ICE-QT
Order No. 1120

i flew to arkansas last march on a tip they'd found gold in the ozarks thirteen weeks and i did not find the gold panning for gold is music there's a repetition, syncopated you feel cool as hell when you pan. you can see the fog at the top of the mountain, and the stream coming down with the gold the silt is like velvet sometimes you see something shine sleeping one night i had a dream i was in a swamp searching for a rare species of bird, a big toucan with a glowing pink bill the species was called the pink floyd there were hundreds of flamingos around, and i kept mistaking them for the pink floyd charles barkley reminded me each time: "those are flamingos" at last i saw it -- shadow big as the sky it swooped low with that glowing pink bill so close you could see how many colors make up the color pink the pink floyd wanted to hurt me
